	Q2 2017 / 2018	Q3 2017 / 2018
NUMBER OF ALLEGATIONS IDENTIFIED	1,140	1,313

Key Points

- The number of notifications and reports received by the Commission increased this quarter, as did the number of allegations identified. This increase is reflective of business as usual resuming at public sector agencies after the holiday shutdown.
- The number of allegations identified by the Commission about the Western Australian Police Force (WAPF) increased significantly in this quarter. This is likely due to increased contact with members of the public during the previous holiday season.
- Allegations about the Department of Corrective Services (now the Department of Justice) have remained stable over the last four quarters. Fluctuations in the number of allegations relating to the Department of Education is in line with the agency's alternative reporting requirements.
